

Reusability

The approach of using a generic class (ResourceDTO) as described in the Hateoas section , is reusable in other projects. This could be enhanced to provide hypermedia covering all available actions and links. It could be extended to provide a template property which allowed a client to understand how to create/modify a new/existing resource. The template has not been implemented due to time limitation.

